.72 Inches Rain And Still No Heavy Frost

Nov. 1st, and still flowers are blooming, grass is growing, and the country looks like early September instead of November. No one needs to go to California for mild winter weather when we have such autumns as we have enjoyed this year.

Commencing about 6 a. m. Saturday morning, rain fell all day long, bringing about three-quarters of an inch of moisture. The clouds were heavy and low all day Sunday with a rather keen north-west wind blowing. Everyone expected snow and a heavy frost during the night, but the clouds broke and when Monday morning dawned, the clouds commenced to lift, the sun came out and warmed up the air, and wonder of wonders only the thinnest sheet of ice had formed on the water, and flowers, including even geraniums and such plants were still blooming. And this is Southern Alberta.

The storm found the grain harvest completed. The beet harvest was nearing the end too. Frank Taylor, stated that 305,000 tons of beets were on top of the ground when the storm came, with about 300,000 tons delivered to the Company's stations, and an estimated 25,000 ton still to be dug, which will make a total tonnage this year of about 325,000. The beets are large well shaped and nice to handle and will set a record for beet growing in Southern Alberta.

A very good run is also reported in the Factory itself. Superintendent C. R. Wing reporting an average daily slicing of between 1,350 and 1,400 tons and the mill humming along in nice style. The campaign will likely finish about Jan. 10th.

Harold Stevens was taken to Edmonton the end of the week for examination and possibly an operation to remedy his trouble. A growth in his head, caused by an accident many years ago is the cause of his trouble the Doctor states.

Canada's second destroyer loss of the war occurred on Tuesday of last week when the Margaree sunk in collision with another larger vessel in the North Atlantic where both were travelling without lights. 140 officers and men were lost in the sinking. The ships were in the submarine zone where lights are forbidden.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET MONDAY NEXT

Meeting in conjunction with the Rotary and Lions Club, the Board of Trade has invited the general public to a banquet next Monday night, when the announcement of winners and the presentation of prizes in the Home and Grounds Improvement Contest conducted during summer months will be made. The banquet will be held in the 2nd Ward Church and will commence at 7:30 p.m.

The judging and decision on prize winners has been arrived at for some time, but due to the very busy season of grain and beet harvest, it has been deemed advisable to defer the awarding of the prizes until now, and to honor the prize winners, and to give everyone a better insight into the plan and its workings, with the hope of having another campaign next summer, this public meeting and banquet has been called and everyone is not only invited but urged to attend. Remember the time and the place.

CARNIVAL COMING UP

Just to remind you that the R.A.A. and Lions Carnival is coming up, Nov. 27th and 28th. Tickets for the Grand Prize of a $100.00 War Savings Certificate were printed this week and are now being sold.

There are still a lot of details to work out in connection with the entertainment, but everyone remembers what a fun fest last year's carnival was, and this one it is said will surpass even that. Watch for bills and further items in these columns as Carnival time approaches, and get your tickets. They give you a chance on the big prize, take you in, and give you chances on the door prizes as they are drawn for. Remember the dates and the place is the Opera House.

$130.00 WORTH OF WAR STAMPS SOLD AT PUBLIC SCHOOL

Congratulations to Principal J. C. Hicken and the teachers at the Public School. During the months of September and October, through the encouragement of the staff and the enthusiasm of the students, $130.00 worth of War Savings Stamps have been sold at the school. Thursday afternoon of each week being War Stamp day. In September sales totalled $65.75, and in October $64.25, to make a total for the two months of $130.00.

The purchase of these stamps has been used as a Citizenship project and also a study in thrift, and from the amount of the sales and the splendid co-operation of teachers and students we think all will agree it is a decided success. Again we say, congratulations to our teachers for their fine work.

MacNeil Construction Co. of Calgary is building a new 35-000 bushel annex at the local Pool Elevator. They have a crew of about 10 men working, and started work last Tuesday night. They expect to finish either Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Heber F. Allen was the speaker at Rotary on Monday and spoke from a very interesting article in the Rotarian on the responsibility of a Rotarian to his club and to his community. Monday guests were H. A. McElroy of Calgary, A. W. Jones and L. L. Palmer, local business men.

QUIET HALLOWE'EN

Congratulations to the boys and girls of Raymond. Halloween last night was the quietest with the least damage of property and annoyance of people we have witnessed for many years. We congratulate the boys and girls, and hope that this good behavior on Halloween night can be continued.

THANKS FROM SPONSORS

Realizing $123.60 from the Vets dance held last Friday night the sponsors of this Patriotic Dance want to say thanks to everyone who assisted in the success of it. This sum will permit the sending of a variety of Xmas box to each soldier and men as remembrance from the folks who are at home.

Intense Fighting Now In Greece

Over the week-end, Greece, apparently being a myth. Aerial was drawn into the war by the warfare has been somewhat restrained over Greece so far, the bombing of England and air- plane encounters in Africa still keeping the aerial divisions of both powers busy.

Russia and Turkey are still looking on, great concentrations of Nazi troops on borders facing Russia are reported, there being no question but what Hitler is fearful of what Stalin might do. The position of Turkey is becoming more tense and difficult every hour. As activities in Greece increase, Turkey will either have to grant great favors one way or the other or else declare herself and get into the very unpleasant and popular game vitally interested in the Suez, the Dardanelles and connecting seas adjacent to the Mediterranean, she will be interested in what happens, and should aid the Allies in holding the Axis group within their present bloc.

England still carries on, hopeful, determined and cheerful. Mistress of the sea, nearing an equality in the air, and steadily increasing her possible land forces if they are needed, her position is still a 1, and as time goes on it looks like a survival of the fittest, and with the colonies to assist in the furnishing of food, ammunitions, planes, armoured vehicles of all sorts and man power, by all the laws of average "There! Always, be an England, And England shall be Free.

Mrs. Emil Weed Passes Away After Long Illness

STATEMENT MADE BY THE PRIME MINISTER TO THE NATIONAL WAR SAVINGS COMMITTEE-OCTOBER 28, 1940

On behalf of the the Government, I would like to express our appreciation for the important voluntary work being carried out by the National War Savings Committee. No single phase of the war effort on the home front, is as many sided in its implication and possible effects. It is at once a balance wheel in the national economy, and an important source of money to be converted into the weapons of war.

War Savings in a democracy can produce in voluntary fashion what the totalitarian states can do only under the most rigorous pressure and controls. By regular investment in War Savings Certificates, our people can make an important contribution to the war program; they can avoid inflationary price movements; and they can build a reserve of purchasing power to tide them over the possible rainy days of post war adjustment.

Canadians are eager to share in a vigorous prosecution of the cause of winning the war. As the government views your services, I would say that the National Chairman of the War Savings Committee and each of the nine Provincial Chairmen, have undertaken a high mission that can provide an avenue of participation for every man, woman and child, and also save Canada from many of the scars of war.

We all know that war involves sacrifice that must be faced and borne by all. Our men and women have answered the call to the colours, and no words can adequately describe the sac-

Early Tuesday morning, Raymond lost a well-loved and pioneer resident in the passing of Mrs. Emil Weed, aged 67, at her home here after a long illness, which has kept her bedfast for some months, during which time she gradually grew weaker and the end was not altogether unexpected.

Mrs. Weed has been an aggressive Church worker having served in the auxiliary organizations of the L. D. S. Church throughout her stay in Raymond, serving at one time as President of the Y.W.M.I.A. For years she has had a class of boys in the ward Sunday School where her personality, preparation and sincerity has endeared the boys to her with a love almost equal to their mother's and has made this one of the outstanding classes of the Sunday School.

She leaves to mourn her passing her husband and a grown son, and our sympathy goes out to them in their sorrow. Funeral services will be held in the First Ward Church Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. with Bishop J. O. Hicken in charge.

As they are prepared to make at home our sacrifices take a material form.

War Savings actually mean intelligent management of one's own affairs in relation to the war effort. Saving alone is not enough—to have its maximum effectiveness it must be wisely directed savings. We must save on products and service which can be directly diverted to war purposes. Many things which are not luxuries in the usual sense of the word are luxuries now if we are to be honest and thorough in our determination to put first the winning of the war. For example, a dollar spent on imports, even of ordinary necessities, from non-Empire countries, may be just one dollar less available for imports of war necessities from such countries. Dollars spent on products other than those wholly essential which require a large amount of skilled mechanical labour reduces the amount of labor available for the production of aeroplanes, tanks, motor transport, and other war essentials.

It is the stern responsibility of every Canadian to consider whether or not his spending hampers the effort to equip our soldiers, sailors and airmen with the best and most complete equipment. In other words, our private buying should not be competing with the Department of Munitions and Supply for products that involve foreign exchange or construction and mechanical labour.

War Savings Certificates provide a medium through which Canadians can systematically invest a part of current income in a storehouse of purchasing power to be used in later years. Much of the agony of the adjustment from wartime to peacetime pursuits of the nation will be avoided if our people have saved regularly while all are busy producing the sinews of war.

You, the members of the War Savings Committee, will do a fine service if you carry this message back to the people of your respective provinces. Spend wisely, always with a thought for the war effort; save regularly, with a thought for the future; join Canada's army of regular War Savers. This army of War Savers will help effectively to protect the future of this country when peace returns.

WHAT OF NEXT YEAR

From the Great Lakes to the foothills of the Rockies, a distance of a thousand miles east and west, and from 200 to 600 miles north and south, stretches the finest wheat belt in the world. Millions of acres of virgin prairie where the hardest and best milling wheat ever grown is produced. With elevators plugged, wheat stored on farms, and great surpluses in hand, what shall we do with these acres next year when the planting season rolls around.

Personally, we hate to think of a very great curtailing in the production of wheat. Truly, wheat is the staff of life. It is the thing on which civilization depends more than anything else to balance up a healthy and nourishing diet. It can be turned into food for almost any kind of livestock. It is easily stored, does not deteriorate with age, always furnishes an income, though it may be small, and gives the nations and individuals who have it a sense of security.

Then too, Canadian farmers are outfitted with equipment to raise wheat. To say to Western farmers, you must change your crop, would mean an immense outlay of money for equipment for other branches of farming. Can the nation afford this at present? Are these broad wheat acres fitted for other crops to be produced as successfully as wheat? Is there the time to educate farmers to a new business?

We cannot answer these simple questions. We believe however, that science will find use for our wheat that would assist in our war effort, that would give our farmers a good return for his labors, and that would permit him to continue raising wheat. Our whole western business and civilization is built on wheat as a medium of wealth and exchange. Can we change? Surely. But while we change good time in the prosecution of our war effort is going to be lost. Failures are bound to come, discouragement will follow the failures and an upheaval might result. Have we the time for these experiences? We believe in the old saying "Don't change horses in the middle of a stream." Let Canada and the other colonies raise wheat, and let science find new and profitable uses for this fine crop.

Snow partly covered the ground from just west of Spring Coulee to Cardston and on west on Wednesday and the air was perceptibly cooler than here. It surely is nice to live in the banana belt.

The C. W. Selman family has received a letter from Salt Lake advising them that all the Elders had been called out of the Tongan Islands and that when these Elders arrived in the United States they would be assigned to new fields to complete their labors. The Selmans were of course greatly interested due to the fact that their son Barker, has been in the Tongan Mission.

IMPERIAL OIL MARKETS "ESSOLITE" KEROSENE

Reporting recently on the petroleum industry, the Alberta Royal Commission had this to say: "In our view, there could have been no support for the present-day range of the activities of the industry, and of the other industries depending upon it, without the dynamic technology which has been developed in every branch of the oil business through the unstinted expenditure of money by companies who were in a financial position to make large expenditures in support of scientific endeavor."

Imperial Oil Limited, always a leader in petroleum research, announces in this issue of this paper a notable improvement in kerosene following laboratory research and plant improvement. The new kerosene now being sold by Imperial dealers and agents is branded Imperial Essolite Kerosene. Never before, it is said, has a kerosene of this high incubator quality been made available at the price of regular kerosene. Essolite Kerosene is said to give improved performance in every use to which kerosene is put.

DOING OUR SHARE

There will always be an England
And freedom shall remain.
Wherever there's a busy street,
Or a field of golden grain.
The German may bomb them,
And cause them fear and strife.

The British will fight for democracy,
With their last breath of life.

And over here in Canada,
Far from the battle ground;
We too must help to win this war,
For the freedom we have found.

We must give to this noble cause,
All that we can spare;
To help our boys to carry on.
While they're fighting over there.

So give all that you can,
And no gift is too small.
For those things that you give,
Are better than nothing at all.
For this war is ours too,
It is our struggle to live;
So when asked for your share,
Won't you, "Dig in and Give."

NO NEED FOR ALARM

Many business people, it seems, are still alarmed because of a belief some hold that prairie farmers will be unable to sell sufficient of their crops this year to receive even a reasonable amount of money before the winter sets in. This alarm, it is said, is having the effect of making some business men hesitate about giving farmers the usual amount of credit.

The facts are that farmers have already delivered to elevators from August 1st to October 19th, 190 million bushels of wheat, and that 85 million of this was delivered during the 30 days from September 19th. Should these deliveries continue, therefore, at this same rate, then farmers would have delivered and sold by December 1st, to country elevators, around 300 million bushels.

Some authorities confidently believe that farmers will at least have delivered to country elevators by December 1st an average of 10 bushels to the acre. This would come to approximately 280 million bushels, which should bring to farmers the total sum of $140,000,000 for wheat alone, without counting the cash for coarse grains, livestock and livestock products, hay and other incidental products, should in itself warrant a fair amount of credit. But it is to be remembered that even after this is all sold the farmers will still have almost 200 million bushels more wheat in hand to be delivered and sold for cash to elevators between December 1st and August 1st next. All in all, then, it would appear that the Prairie farmers' credit should be as good now as it has been for many past years, and better than it has been for several years.

Cash received by Prairie Farmers from sale of wheat alone from August 1st to December 1st,

Year	Dec. 1st
1940 (Estimate)	$140,000,000
1939	175,000,000
1938	102,000,000
1937	111,000,000
1936	118,000,000
1935	113,000,000
Six year Average	126,500,000

The old couple sat quietly before the fireplace. At length the white haired husband turned to his wife.

"What are you thinking about, Mary?" he asked.
"Well, John," she replied, "I have been thinking about our long life together, and how it can't go on forever like this, and how one of us will soon have to go."

"Yes," said John, "but there's no use in worrying about it."

"Oh, I wasn't worrying," said Mary. "I was just thinking that when it did happen I'd like to go to California to live."

"Did you take your change in stamps?"

Why the Red Cross is in urgent need of funds

Here are a few tasks the Canadian Red Cross must tackle at once:

- 1 At the request of the British Red Cross, it has undertaken to provide 10,000 parcels of food each week from Canada for British prisoners of war in Germany. Canadians can thus help to lessen the strain on Britain's food supplies.
- 2 The Canadian Red Cross will provide, equip and co-operate with the Department of National Defence in maintaining a number of convalescent hospitals in various parts of Canada for use by Canadian soldiers, here and from overseas, who are sick or wounded.
- 3 The Canadian Red Cross will help to supply clothing and other necessities to the more than 100,000 evacuee children in Britain, and the 100,000 refugees from invaded countries who have sought shelter under the Union Jack. Many articles of relief clothing have been supplied, but another half million articles will be needed from Canadian Red Cross workrooms.
- 4 The Canadian Red Cross is sending an increasing flow of supplies for the alleviation of civilian suffering caused by enemy bombing of Britain.
- 5 As Canada's own armed forces grow, on land, on sea and in the air, the need for Red Cross services increases.
- 6 The Red Cross must be ready and fully equipped to meet any emergency at the moment it arises.

These are tasks you must not leave undone. Support the Red Cross with all your heart.

WEEKLY LETTER

CRESTED WHEAT GRASS SEEDING

The interest in grasses for dry farming areas in Southern Alberta seems to be increasing, judging from the inquiries received at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alberta. This interest is justified as there are many places where land now being farmed should be seeded to grass. A few years ago, one hesitated to recommend grass for drier areas as there was no variety available that seemed suitable. Now, however, crested wheat grass fills that need. In all areas of Southern Alberta, where brome grass tends to kill out in dry years, crested wheat grass has proved satisfactory. When once established, it seems to maintain itself as well as does the native sod. Crested wheat grass is a prolific seed producer making it possible for any one to produce his own seed.

Usually, it is not difficult to secure a stand of crested wheat grass if a few rules are followed in seeding. This grass should be seeded either in the fall or very early spring, so that it will become well established before the dry weather of mid-summer. Early September seems to be a very favourable time to seed if grasshoppers are not prevalent to destroy the young seedlings. If early September seeding is not feasible, it appears desirable to wait to seed just before freeze-up so that the seed is in the ground and ready to germinate when warm weather comes the following spring. Where spring seeding is practiced, the seeding should be done as soon as it is possible to get on the land.

Crested wheat grass should be seeded in land that is protected against soil drifting as it takes from one to two years for the crop to establish itself well enough to hold the soil. For this reason, it is usually best to seed it in stubble or in abandoned fields covered with dead weeds. The more stubble or weed protection the young plants have, the better their chance for survival if dry weather conditions prevail. Some times seeding directly into sod is successful where part of the grass has been killed off by grazing.

The depth of seeding is important. The seed needs to be lightly covered because its very small and weak sprouts cannot get up through much soil. One half inch seems to be as deep as it is safe to seed.

As to rate of seeding, the best yield of seed, hay and pasture have been secured with light seedings on extensive experiments conducted by the

FLARES WARN OF DISABLED TRUCKS

A new regulation of the highway traffic board, just announced by the provincial government provides that flares, lamps, lanterns or fuses which are capable of being visible under normal atmospheric conditions from a distance of at least 500 feet shall be carried at all times by public service or commercial vehicles.

When at any time during the period between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise such a vehicle becomes stationary, for any reason whatsoever upon any highway outside a city, town or village, and the lighting equipment on the truck or bus has been disabled, the driver, or other person in charge is required to immediately place warning lights or flares on the highway.

One is to be placed approximately 100 feet in front of the disabled machine and the other 100 feet to the rear.

The order as to carrying lamps or flares does not apply to commercial vehicles, certificated for farm operations unless they are being operated at night.

Lethbridge Experimental Station. Seeding six pounds per acre with every other run of the drill has given good results. Even three pounds per acre with every second, or even with only every third drill run open has been satisfactory. This gives row spacings of from 12 to 18 inches. This spacing of rows has given definitely better yields than where seed is placed in every drill run.

Where the above rules of seeding have been followed, very few failures have been met with in securing a stand of crested wheat grass. Usually the yields of hay, seed or pasture have been satisfactory when sufficient moisture has been received to make a good growth of grass.

CANADIAN Y.M.C.A. SERVES C.A.S.F. IN GREAT BRITAIN AS BOMBS FALL ON LONDON

Early every morning during London's air raids, a fleet of six or more tea cars has arrived at the back entrance to what used to be one of the most well-known of restaurants—Gatti's in the Strand.

A team of voluntary lady workers, neat in grey uniforms, load the cars with urns of tea, sandwiches, cakes, chocolates and cigarettes, which have been stacked in preparation in the kitchens once famous for their chefs. Inside the restaurant, with its gilt carvings and statuary ceilings, men of the services who have spent that night in what is now a Y.M.C.A. centre are having breakfast.

Once the tea cars are loaded they move off to those raided district from which appeals have been received. They have fed the homeless and stood for long hours supplying refreshments to weary squads of firemen and A.R.P. workers, often during air raids.

Over fifty Y.M.C.A. tea cars, operating from different centres in the London area, have helped in relieving distress in addition to their normal task of visiting balloon barrage and anti-aircraft gun units.

Though one tea car has been damaged while operating and bombs have fallen within a hundred yards of the building, service is continuing from the Piccadilly Y.M.C.A. centre in the East End of London, where the first tea cars of this war were run experimentally in September, 1939.

PROBLEMS OF EVERYDAY LIFE

(By Dr. M. M. Lappin)

Of all the problems of Everyday Life, the problem of how to live together is perhaps the most difficult. For example, a correspondent asks my advice as to how he should act towards some troublesome neighbors. He writes: (I quote in part only.)

"My wife and I are rather proud of our little house. We try to keep it tidy inside and out. We managed to make quite a nice little garden, but our neighbor's children make it very hard for us to keep the peace. They are continually tramping over our flower beds on the pretence of looking for a lost ball or something of the kind. When spoken to about it they are insolent, and protests to their parents only bring the retort 'Children are children and they must play somewhere.' How can one live peaceably with neighbors like that?"

There are some folks who have no consideration for the other fellow. They seem to deliberately make themselves disagreeable and it certainly is not pleasant to be around where they are. The quietest way is usually the best way with such folks.

My correspondent does not mention whether he has any children. I rather fancy he has not. May I remind him that parents are a bit touchy regarding their own children and, while they themselves may find fault with them, they do not relish others criticising them. That may account for the retort with which your protests are met.

You can accomplish more through dealing directly with the children. Of course, to get the best response from children you must understand children. Those who understand children know how they respond to kindness. If I were in your position, I would make it my business to win the friendship of those troublesome children. I would spend some time working in my garden when those children were playing. I would draw them into conversation and try to get them to see how a nice frontage to a house helps to make a beautiful neighborhood. I would even go so far as to suggest that they make a little garden in front of their own houses, and I would offer to help them by giving them seeds or plants with which to start. In this way you stand to win their cooperation and that is preferable to incurring their enmity.

This method calls for patience but it works in time. Adopt it, and who knows, but the friendship and undying gratitude of the parents might be won as well as the co-operation of the children?

On the other hand, if you are up against a case of deliberate and malicious destruction of property, and there seems to be no other remedy, you can always resort to law. This should be done only as a very last resort and when every other effort has failed. After all, living together is an art. In order that we might be able to practise that art we must try to see the other fellow's point of view. To go about in a fretting spirit looking for trouble is sure to find it. Adopt the pleasanter attitude that always tries to return good for evil and life will run along much more smoothly. People generally, and children in particular, respond to the kindly attitude. Try it and let me know the result.

What is your problem? Dr. Lappin will help you to solve it. Write to him today. Your letter will be regarded as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. M. M. Lappin, 501 Ryrie Building, Toronto, Ontario.

FEDERAL KING'S PRINTER ISSUES 1940 YEAR BOOK

The publication of the 1940 edition of the Canada Year Book published by authorization of the Hon. James A. McKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes, in all its chapters, the latest information up to the date of going to press.

The 1940 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,200 pages, dealing with all phases of national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-eight years ago.

Persons desiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50, which covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding. By a special concession a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside, for ministers of religion, bona-fide students and school teachers, who may obtain copies at the nominal price of 50c each.

Cleaner-burning, more efficient

ESSOLITE, the new kerosene recently developed in Imperial Oil research laboratories, is a distinctly different kind of Kerosene. It is an incubator quality fuel and is so free from sulphur and other impurities that it burns with practically no odor and assures cleaner wicks. In lamps and lanterns, Essolite burns with a brilliant, white, flickerless flame. In oil stoves, it gives a steady, uniform heat. In incubators, brooders and refrigerators, it burns safely and uniformly. Essolite Kerosene, now made in Imperial Oil refineries at Calgary and Regina from Turner Valley crude oil, really offers exceptional value, the value you expect in a high grade incubator oil, yet sells at the price of regular kerosene. Ask your Imperial Oil agent or dealer for Essolite.
